

The overall design, architecture and plan of any institution strikes the onlooker both visually and aesthetically and becomes one of the most important impressions that he or she has of the institution. This is true for Barrackpore Rastraguru Surendranath College. In fact unlike most other colleges BRSN College fulfills the aesthetic criteria in a twofold way as it has two campus buildings.

The 85, Middle road campus ( Campus-I, 104200 sq. ft.) is an example of modern architecture. Planned for maximum intellectual output, it has huge classrooms, laboratories and seminar rooms. This building houses the Science departments and the administrative units of the college. Surrounded by greenery this is the heart of the college. The buildings are eco-friendly and scientifically sound as its design allows for sunlight in the winter and air in the summer.

The 6, Riverside road campus( Campus-II,95200 sq.ft..) is located on the banks of the holy Ganga, full of beautiful ancient trees. The spacious, well maintained garden full of hundreds of flowering plants and herbs create a sense of vibrant life in the laps of Nature. The sights and sounds change with the weather throughout the year providing a range of experiences - bird chirps, sounds of the flowing water, colourful flowers, rolling greens - capped off with the cool breeze from the river. It reminds us of the great thinkers who always talked about the relationship between learning and nature. The building has a great play ground covered in green grass paved around with tree lines. Greenery can be seen from every corner of the building having a soothing and calming effect on the mind, creating a peaceful atmosphere for teaching and learning. This campus houses the Arts and Commerce departments and has ample space for teachers and students to experience the beauty of the teaching learning process inside an ecologically blessed atmosphere.

The campus buildings are divided into five Blocks each, (BLOCK A to E). They symbolize the unified beauty of the mind and the soul, of pleasure and duty, of emotion and experience.
