“Cine Parbon - International Short Film Carnival & Awards 2024”

Film festivals work as an essential link in the chain of international film culture. Festivals have a big impact on independent filmmakers' visibility and audience reach. Filmmakers can reach out to a larger audience, receive insightful criticism, and possibly land distribution deals that will propel their movies to new heights by taking part in film festivals. After realizing these facts and understanding the advantages of having a department dedicated to Film Studies, the institution took the decision to launch our innovative project in 2016 by putting on a film festival with help of the department of Film Studies and the Internal Quality Assurance Cell's (IQAC) auspices.

The programme was initiated as a part of our institution's aim of achieving distinctiveness in the field of art, creativity and entrepreneurship. As our students each year make a number of short films as a part of their curriculum, and with the rise of different digital exhibition platforms, we could well assume the future possibilities of 'Short Films'. 'Cine-Parbon' not only showcases short films made by our students but also introduces them with renowned film makers and technicians from the industry. Every year we receive around 40 films in the competitive section. Besides, there are other sections like Special Screening, International Select and Classics. This annual exposure helps our students enrich themselves with requisite knowledge and expertise about contemporary media and entertainment industry.

Above all, Cine Parbon is an initiative that provides a single platform for learning the intricacies of film making, event management and above all an entertainment for all.
